

WEALTHY BOARDER WIFE'S "NURSE" AT ATLANTIC CITY INN

His Sleuth Boosted Jacobs Up to Transom to Peep at "Sick" Room.

Witnesses were examined in the effort of Harry J. Jacobs, a wealthy tailor, to prove that his wife had behaved improperly with Earl A. Kaake, a real estate man, and with David R. Westervelt, a wealthy young man, in the trial of Jacobs' suit for divorce before Justice Platzeck and a jury in the Supreme Court to-day.

Mrs. Edna Levy, sister of Jacobs, swore that the wife was in the room with a young man whom she called her cousin and with whom she had cocktails.

Beste Nelson, a negress, who was Mrs. Jacobs' maid and helped her move from No. 331 Amsterdam avenue to No. 391 West End avenue on June 27, was called by Mr. Kaufman, of counsel for Jacobs.

She said the household consisted of Miss Kate Lilley, a sister of Mr. Jacobs; Mrs. Jacobs, who was ill in bed for a month; her fourteen-year-old daughter and Mr. Westervelt. The maid declared she had never seen any impropriety.

William A. Schaefer, a detective, said he located Mrs. Jacobs, May 8, in the Polyclinic Hospital, where she had been for six weeks, after an operation. All that time Westervelt boarded in her apartment in the Amsterdam avenue. Miss Lilley, who is a trained nurse, removed her patient to their home, a few days later.

"On Aug. 6," said the sleuth, "she and Mr. Westervelt and her daughter went to Atlantic City. They registered at the Marlborough-Blenheim and had connecting rooms, Nos. 208 and 209. On the afternoon of Aug. 13, Mrs. Jacobs' daughter went out with a Miss Goddard. We heard Westervelt and Mrs. Jacobs talking in No. 208, and I telephoned to Mr. Jacobs.

"I could see into the room through a transom. Mrs. Jacobs was in bed in night garments. Mr. Westervelt was in the room, wearing trousers, shirt and waistcoat. He sat on the edge of the bed. I lifted Mr. Jacobs up so he could see. Then by partner climbed up. When I knocked at the door, Mr. Westervelt opened it. Mr. Jacobs said:

"Gentlemen, you can see. This is my wife."

Mrs. Jacobs had said in an affidavit that she was too ill to arise and Mr. Westervelt had come in to relieve her daughter and Miss Goddard, as her attendants, while they went out.

"I've worked all my life," George W. Schuster, a once skilled cabinet-maker, said to his wife, "and I don't see how I'm going to learn to do nothing."

That was last night, while the old couple, who were well provided for, were discussing the future. Schuster's falling eyesight made it impossible for him to continue at the work he had grown to love.

Early to-day his wife heard a shot in the parlor of their home, at No. 201 West Eighty-second street. It was followed in a second by another. She ran in and found her husband seated before a long mirror. He had fired twice at himself. One bullet had penetrated his stomach and another, the one which killed him, he fired through his head.

Schuster had fired at such close range that he had set his clothing on fire. His wife extinguished the flames and then screamed for aid. Neighbors and a policeman came and an ambulance was called, but Schuster had died instantly.

Mrs. Schuster said she knew her husband was bitterly grieved over having to give up work, but had no idea he meant to kill himself. The gun was a new one and the woman said her husband must have bought it some time yesterday.

A Tip for Fat Women.
In a few years that excess fat of yours will become a bad habit—impossible to break. Better take time by the forelock and reduce now in a natural way if you would keep intact the youthful symmetry of 20 through the trying years of middle age. Go to the drugist and ask him for 1/2 ounce Marmola, 1/2 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 1/2 ounce Peppermint Water, dose, one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime. Mix them at home if you wish, but see that the Marmola comes to you in a sealed package.

This mixture makes firm-fleshed, well-formed women out of flabby, shapeless ones. It animates their stomachs to burn up the food fats instead of allowing them to gather at the waist line. Without disturbing the diet or requiring exercise to help it out it dissolves the fat away just where needed the most. It has been known to melt away harmlessly as much as 16 ounces a day without causing a single wrinkle.
